

I lost my best friends because they found out I was a lesbian

you clear

<https://writerssa.org.au/>

WRITERS SA

W

I KNOW IT WAS HARD WHEN YOU LOST YOUR BEST FRIENDS BECAUSE THEY THOUGHT YOU WERE A LESBIAN.

You were only young and still finding yourself.

You didn't even understand love, let alone dating, gender, religion identity, racism, bias, prejudice, culture, or sexual orientation and discrimination. Yes, You were treated like a barbarian

So when You was 16, still a virgin, never kissed and never had a boyfriend., your whole school jumped to conclusions. They moved like a regime, Bub, don't let that one experience stop you from finding company to enjoy the earth with. You have nothing to prove and the right people will come to you when you are ready to be your full self unapologetically.

Love from, past you

The whole clontarf boys of your grade made a bet on who would be the first to convert you and steal your virginity.

Your own male cousins even made bets, alarms went off like a Distress Beacon.

THEN SUDDENLY ALL THE GIRLS STOPPED TALKING TO YOU, AND STARTED TALKING ABOUT YOU, THE SCHOOL CELESBIAN.

I know you are still scared to make friends and trust ever again, but there are nice people in the world willing to understand you.

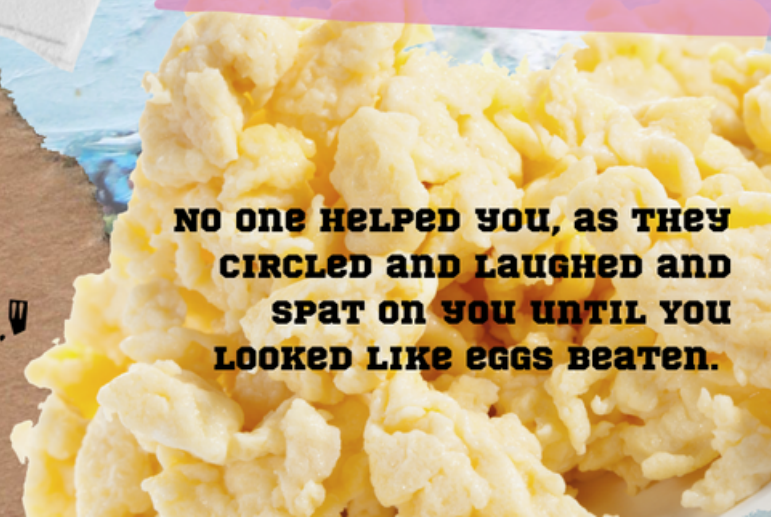

As You had only said, you wanted to be a libertarian.

After all we promised to always be honest with each other, so why would she do this if it wasn't true?

After all, if your best friend thinks this then it must be true.

Your cheeks were bright red, your body started to shake with anxiety and You was too hurt and weak to fight back so You let her say those things and beat you up, in front of your actual crush and peers as if they were Synthespian.

NO ONE HELPED YOU, AS THEY CIRCLED AND LAUGHED AND SPAT ON YOU UNTIL YOU LOOKED LIKE EGGS BEATEN.

Then out of nowhere, your best friend came out and punched you in the face in front of everyone. You were so embarrassed and started angry crying as she yelled really hurtful things like...

